About the University

Chanakya University is a new-age, interdisciplinary university located in Bengaluru, Karnataka, near Kempegowda International Airport, within the Aerospace Industrial Zone. Positioned in a corridor shaped by global enterprise, the University draws from its surroundings while cultivating a distinct academic culture grounded in inquiry and purpose.

The University is founded on the conviction that contemporary challenges require integrative thinking and contextual understanding. Learning encourages students to examine how legal, social, economic, and technological forces interact, developing systems-level thinking and the ability to navigate complexity in professional contexts.

This philosophy is realised through six Schools: Law, Governance and Public Policy; Management Sciences; Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences; Mathematics and Natural Sciences; Biosciences; and Engineering. Each School offers disciplinary depth while remaining connected through shared academic foundations and interdisciplinary pathways.

In this way, aligned with the National Education Policy 2020, Chanakya University offers flexible academic structures that support exploration.

About the School

The School of Law, Governance and Public Policy (SLGPP) is an advanced interdisciplinary academic space dedicated to applied learning and research in law and public policy. The School integrates legal education with governance, public administration, economics, and policy studies to enable students to understand law as a central instrument of governance and social transformation.

Anchored in constitutional values, Indian intellectual traditions, and informed by global perspectives, SLGPP emphasises rigorous scholarship, ethical reasoning, and policy relevance to address contemporary public challenges.

Through its undergraduate, postgraduate, and doctoral programmes including the Five-year integrated B.A., LL.B. (Hons.) and B.B.A., LL.B. (Hons.), One year- LL.M.(Corporate and Commercial Laws), M.A. in Public Policy, and Ph.D. the School adopts an innovative pedagogy centred on experiential and research-led learning.

Legal and policy clinics, internships, moot courts, drafting and policy labs, field engagement, and sustained public dialogue form the core of its applied approach. Graduates are prepared for diverse careers in legal practice, corporate and regulatory roles, public policy and governance, civil services, academia, and the social sector, emerging as competent, socially responsible, and policy-ready professionals.

Dean's message

Prof. (Dr.) Chetan Singai
Professor and Dean,
School of Law, Governance
and Public Policy, Chanakya University

The School of Law, Governance and Public Policy (SLGPP) at Chanakya University is guided by a clear and purposeful vision: to emerge as an advanced interdisciplinary School in India for applied learning and research in law and policy. This vision reflects our belief that the most pressing challenges of our time ranging from constitutional governance and regulatory reform to development, sustainability, and social justice cannot be addressed through single disciplines or purely theoretical approaches. Law and public policy today demand intellectual integration, empirical grounding, and sustained engagement with institutions and society.

The School is therefore committed to fostering an academic ecosystem where rigorous legal scholarship is meaningfully integrated with public policy, governance studies, economics, and the social sciences. Our emphasis on applied learning ensures that students move beyond classrooms into courts, policy labs, field settings, and research environments where law and policy are shaped, implemented, and contested. Experiential pedagogy, research-led teaching, and continuous dialogue with government, judiciary, civil society, and industry form the core of our educational approach.

As Dean, my focus is on building a School that combines academic excellence with public relevance. We seek to nurture graduates and scholars who are not only professionally competent, but also ethically grounded, policy-aware, and socially responsible individuals capable of contributing thoughtfully to India's governance ecosystem and to informed policymaking at national and global levels.

Why choose us?

India, as a post-colonial state, faces unique legal and governance challenges shaped by colonial legacies, constitutional ideals, and civilisational traditions. The School seeks to understand these realities in an integrated manner. It combines Bharatiya jurisprudential thought with modern law and public policy, supported by interdisciplinary learning and hands-on policy engagement. As part of a trans-disciplinary university, the School benefits from rigorous research and expertise drawn from other academic schools, strengthening both teaching and practice-oriented outcomes.

Program Progression

1. What is a Five-Year Integrated Law Programme?

It is a programme students can join right after Class 12, where they study law along with social sciences or management, saving one full academic year compared to the traditional route.

2. Is the student studying “too much law” at an early age?

No. The early years focus on foundational subjects like political science, economics, sociology, and communication, helping students mature intellectually before intensive legal training.

3. Is the programme recognised and credible?

Yes. The curriculum follows national legal education standards and is aligned with the National Education Policy (NEP 2020), emphasising multidisciplinary and experiential learning. The programmes are approved by the Bar Council of India.

4. Will my child get practical exposure or only theory?

Yes. The curriculum follows national legal education standards and is aligned with the National Education Policy (NEP 2020), emphasising multidisciplinary and experiential learning. The programmes are approved by the Bar Council of India.

5. What if the student later decides not to practice law?

The programme keeps multiple career paths open, including public policy, corporate roles, civil services, academia, NGOs, and higher studies in India or abroad.

6. Is there an exit option after BA / BBA in the Five-Year Integrated BA/BBA LL.B (Hons.) programme?

No. The BA/BBA LL.B (Hons.) programme is a five-year integrated programme with no exit option after BA or BBA. The programme is designed as a single, continuous academic and professional pathway, where the undergraduate and legal components are inseparably linked. Students are admitted with the clear understanding that the programme must be completed in full to receive the degree.

One-Year Masters Programme

One-Year LL.M. (Corporate and Commercial Laws)

The LL.M. in Corporate and Commercial Laws is designed as a focused postgraduate programme that equips students with advanced legal knowledge and research competence in contemporary commercial law domains. Spread across two semesters, the structure balances doctrinal courses with research training and a substantial dissertation, enabling learners to develop analytical depth, comparative legal understanding, and practical insight into global and Indian corporate legal frameworks.

- 01 Advanced corporate and commercial law knowledge.
- 02 Mastery of M&A, competition law, and commercial disputes.
- 03 Understanding public accountability, CSR, and ESG.
- 04 Capability to lead legal teams and drive compliance strategies.

Space Consortium 2025

Roundtable on Space Technology and Applications

Chanakya University's School of Engineering hosted Space Consortium 2025 as a policy-focused roundtable on India's evolving space ecosystem. Chaired by Dr. S. Somanath, Chancellor, and co-chaired by Dr. P. G. Diwakar, the discussions examined India's Space Vision 2030, industry-academia integration, workforce policy, regulatory execution, and investment frameworks. Dr. Somanath spoke about India's fast-evolving space sector, highlighting the push towards reusable launch systems, indigenous avionics, and a stronger role for private players. He stressed the need for universities to actively support workforce development, research, and manufacturing innovation. A key takeaway was the need for structured industry-academia integration.

Participation included 25 organizations and more than 40 individuals. There were 17 startups, including Agnikul Cosmos, Pixxel, and Skyroot Aerospace. Three academic and research institutions participated, namely IISc, IIT Roorkee, and Manipal. Five venture capital and fund management firms were represented, including 3one4 Capital, Infosys Investments, and Accel.

Other participating and referenced organizations from the space technology ecosystem included Ananth Technologies, Visvasys Aerospace, Azista Aerospace, GalaxEye, Vasundharaa Geo Technologies, XDLINX Space Labs, Nibe Space, EtherealX, and Anira SpaceCom.
